Council of Advice, Lay
George Battrick, Ascension, Munich

George Battrick grew up in Manchester in an “ecumenical family” (mother Methodist, father Church of England) and has an MA in engineering from the University of Cambridge. He has lived in Munich, and been a member of the Church of the Ascension, since 1993, having originally planned to stay for only two or three years. He sings in the church choir, has participated in several church “mission and service” trips to “Children in Distress” in Romania, and represents The Episcopal Church in the Bavarian Council of Churches (“AcK in Bayern”). He has completed the first three years of the EfM programme.

He has served several terms on the Church of the Ascension Vestry, including periods as Secretary, Junior Warden and Senior Warden, and has attended Convocation Conventions in all parishes of the Convocation except Clermont Ferrand. He was a member of the Council of Advice for four years, including two years as its President.

He believes that the Anglican “middle way” has a significant role to play in Europe and beyond in a world that seems increasingly factional and polarised, and that while the extremes of Christianity seem to be trying to ignore or roll back the Enlightenment, The Episcopal Church is seriously endeavouring to develop and live Christianity in a post-Enlightenment world.

Council of Advice, Lay
Cyrus Gunalan Veloo, Emmanuel, Geneva

Hello everyone! I was born and raised in Singapore. My schooling years were spent in an all-boys' Catholic school. I served in the military and was stationed in Brunei, Taiwan and Thailand. My professional life in Singapore included stints in banks and the government service. Currently, I work for the World Intellectual Property Organization and hold a master's degree in business administration from the University of Geneva.

My wife and I attend Emmanuel Episcopal Church, and currently I serve in the Vestry as the Assistant Treasurer. I have been blessed to be a part of various committees like Finance, Outreach, Stewardship, Website and Welcoming. I have been a delegate at Convocation Convention and I have also attended the APL 'Invite-Welcome-Connect' training this year.

How might God be calling me to serve in Council? I feel called to offer my experience and skills for the many decisions facing the council and a new bishop. I would apply the skills acquired over two careers in financial services and government and international organizations as we enter a new and exciting phase.

Richard would bring to Council not only the unique voice of his diaconal ministry, but also his many years of experience of attending meetings as an ex officio member.

Rev. Christopher Easthill, St. Augustine's, Wiesbaden

Since March 2014 I have been Rector, initially Priest-in-charge of the Church of St. Augustine of Canterbury, Wiesbaden. Before becoming a priest, I worked for a German insurance company for 25 years and during most of that time served at Ascension, Munich in various lay leadership functions. I have a BA in German and Management Studies from Leeds University, a foundation degree in Theology and Ministry from St. John's College, Nottingham, and a Master of Divinity from Virginia Theological Seminary.

Before going to seminary, I was lay co-chair of the Council of Anglican Episcopal Churches in Germany (CAECG) for two terms (8 years). In March 2016, I was elected a member of the governing board (Vorstand) of the German Ecumenical Council of Churches (ACK Arbeitsgemeinschaft Christlicher Kirchen in Deutschland). Following last year's Convention, I was appointed to the Convocation's Commission on Mission Congregations (COMC). I believe that both my management and ecumenical experience would be of benefit to the Council of Advice, which is why I am standing for one of the two vacant clergy positions.
